Product Description

Anchor Sheet Extrusion Line Machine/Anchor Sheet Making Machine Multi-point Anchoring PE Board Production Line

Product description

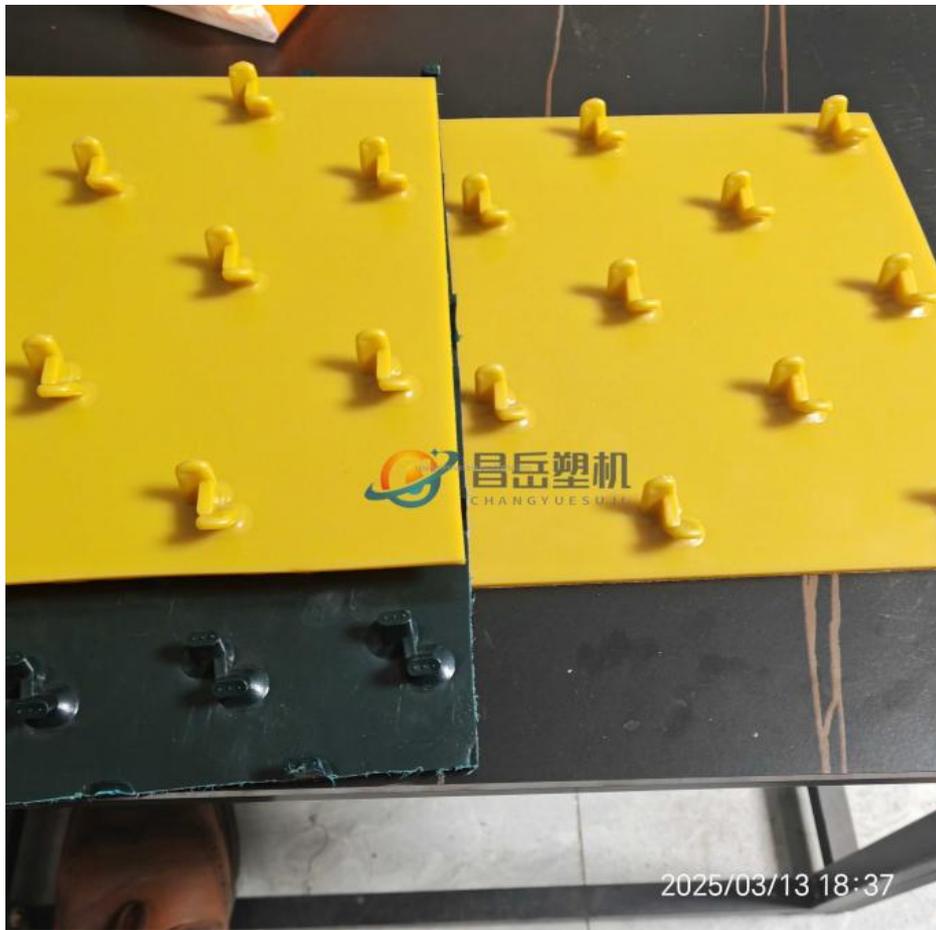

The anchor sheet combines the advantages of thermoplastics (good flexibility, ductility and corrosion resistance) with the characteristics of concrete (high strength and rigidity), it can not only meet the high requirement of acid-resistance structure, but also prevent the deterioration of concrete, which can prolong the building service life, meanwhile it can prevent leakage and penetration to protect the environment directly. The special anchoring system is suitable for buildings under pressure, and it is widely used for pipe liners with repairable defects, such as penetration, abrasion, partial collapse, corrosion, disconnection, etc
